The left column shows the film thickness profile (Y-axis) versus position (X-axis) for five different thickness distributions (1-5). The right column shows the corresponding light intensity profile (Y-axis) versus position (X-axis) for the same five thickness distributions (11-15).

The plots illustrate how the light intensity profile changes as the film thickness profile varies. The light intensity profiles are shown as curves, and the film thickness profiles are shown as step functions or ramps.

The plots are labeled as follows:

- Left Column (Film Thickness vs. Position): 1, 2, 3, 4, 5
- Right Column (Light Intensity vs. Position): 11, 12, 13, 14, 15
